What do I need to know about the App Developer market?

The following summary statistics have been taken from market research reports and reliable resources that the Information Service uses to compile industry information. They should give you an indication of how your industry is faring at present and whether there is demand for your type of business:

- ◆ Over the next five years, industry revenue is forecast to grow at a compound annual rate of 14.2% to total £42.2 billion in 2027-28. As smartphone penetration begins to reach saturation, the industry will no longer be able to expand at the rate recorded over the past decade. However, advances in smartphones and technology, such as augmented reality and connectable gadgets, are expected to provide developers with new opportunities for growth in the coming years. (IBISWorld, App Development in the UK, March 2023).
- ◆ Mintel forecasts that the value of the mobile device apps market will be £3,027.6m in 2022, a downturn on 2021's all-time record-breaking figure of £3,247.5m. 2022 has seen competing time and attention from in-person shopping and socialising post-pandemic. Despite mobile apps' relatively low entry point in terms of cost, they also aren't immune to the effects of the cost of living crisis (Mintel, Mobile Device Apps UK, 2022).
- ◆ The global mobile apps market was valued at $604.85 billion in 2022 and is estimated to grow to $1,700.75 billion in 2027. This will create an incremental growth opportunity worth $1,095.9 billion between 2022 and 2027, which translates to around 182% of the market size in 2022. This represents significant growth opportunities for vendors. Vendors can continue to grow by leveraging the inherent growth opportunities available within the market while avoiding direct competition. (Technavio, Global Mobile Apps Market 2023-2027).
- ◆ In January 2023, WhatsApp was the most popular mobile app for smartphone or tablet users in the United Kingdom, with an audience reach of 86.6 percent. Social media giant Facebook followed, with a reach of around 78 percent of the country's digital population. Google Maps ranked third with an audience reach of 71 percent. In 2023, e-mail services, mobile social media, and messenger apps were the most popular categories for smartphone users in the country. (Statista, Leading Mobile Apps in the UK 2023 by Reach).
- ◆ The national organisation for this include: The App Association, Application Developers Alliance, ScotlandIS, The Business Application Software Developers Association \(BASDA\), and Creative Scotland.

Where can I find more information on my market?

The Information Service has access to a number of databases which can offer more detail on this industry. Some of these reports are listed below - if you would like to be sent extracts from any of these reports, please contact us on 0300 013 4753 or email info@bgateway.com.

- ◆ Technavio – Global Fitness App Market (2023-2027). Women are major contributors to the growth of the global fitness app market. The rising adoption of fitness trackers by women drives the growth of the segment. In 2020, the primary users of Fitbit wearable devices were women, who accounted for approximately a 60%-70% share. Women are more likely to download health and fitness-related apps than men.
- ◆ IBISWorld – Software Development in the UK (March 2023). Ongoing developments to technology like mobile devices and cloud networks are creating new sources of demand for software. Growing adoption of information technology in different areas of life can also breed new demand for the industry. Furthermore, developments in hardware, such as smartphones, tablets and wireless devices, have created new markets for software developers, which are able to expand into mobile apps or embedded software for new technologies.

There are also a number of online resources you may find helpful:

- ◆ You can register, for free, with the National Library of Scotland \(nls.uk\) and gain access to their online business resources including Complete Business Reference Adviser (COBRA). Here you can access their Freelance App Developer Business Opportunity Profile (October 2020) which provides information on trading issues and links to other information sources.
- ◆ Google publishes free marketing resources on the Think with Google site. They have a page on App & Mobile marketing perspectives, with articles and presentations on subjects such as app optimization and advertising, as well as news pieces on trends in the industry and case studies on specific company successes with their apps (shorturl.at/beioC).
- ◆ British Application Software Developers Association (BASDA) is a UK trade body representing the UK business software industry. They have best practice guides and standards sections on their websites as well as other resources.

How can I find out about my competitors?

Business Gateway's online guide to Competitor Analysis explains how to find your competitors, how to research what they're doing and how to act on what you learn about them.

Immediate competition will be from other businesses in your local area. There are several online directories which can be used to find company information and generate lists easily and at no expense. Many Local Authorities also publish local business directories on the web. Below are some key web resources:

- ◆ General business directories such as Yell ,Thomson Local or Google Maps
- ◆ Trade specialists like EuroPages (European directory), The Wholesaler or Free Index
- ◆ Business to business (B2B) specialists such as Kompass

Likewise, your local Chamber of Commerce may publish a members' directory; find your local Chamber on the Scottish Chambers website.

Once you've identified who your competitors are, the next step is to gather information on the way they do business. Which services do they provide? How do they market themselves? How much do they charge?

To learn about your competitors:

- ◆ Look for articles or adverts in local newspapers, trade press and directories.
- ◆ Try to read their marketing material; if the company has an online presence, visit the company's website as a first port of call. Not only does it give you a better understanding of the company's activities, it can also offer a wealth of information such as a company history or staff biographies, as well as the company's partners or suppliers
- ◆ Search for information on limited UK companies via the Companies House website
- ◆ Gain an insight into your competitor's performance using credit checks and the accounts that limited companies are required to submit to Companies House each year.

We can provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using this resource, or looking for us to help you find relevant publications, please contact us by emailing info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753

What about suppliers?

Choosing and Managing Suppliers can help you decide what you need from a supplier, how to identify one and how to choose one to deal with.

Trade associations or industry specific organisations may also be able to recommend suppliers or contacts. You can also use the aforementioned resources for finding competitors to find suppliers.

Once you have decided on a supplier, we can run a credit check on the company to help assess their financial stability. We provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using the resource please info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753.

Who are my customers?

Your business plan should include information about the customers you would expect. Business Gateway's guides on Market and customer research will help you to identify new trends, opportunities, customers and competitors.

It can be useful to group your customers by geographical location, age or lifestyle. The websites listed below are freely available and can provide most of this information. If you can't find what you're looking for from these website, please contact us and one of the team will be happy to help:

- ◆ Access the latest population estimates from the National Records of Scotland \(NRS\). NRS also offers demographic factsheets for each council area in Scotland, which can provide summary statistics for the area you will be based in.
- ◆ Information from the most recent census in 2011 is released via the official website. See in particular the Census Area Profiles. Clicking on your area of interest will give the latest population figures, including estimates by age.
- ◆ Understanding Scottish Places has interactive profiles of towns and cities across Scotland. It can be useful for understanding the interrelationships and flows between towns, and also gives comparisons between two or more places.
- ◆ Scottish Government Statistics provide accurate and up-to-date statistics on Scotland, covering population, health, education and housing.
- ◆ The Scottish Household Survey provides information on the structure, characteristics, attitudes and behaviour of Scottish households, both at a national and local level.
- ◆ Office for National Statistics \(ONS\) is the recognised national statistical body for the UK. ONS covers a wide range of demographic, economic and social issues at a UK level.
