What do I need to know about the Forest Industries including Tree Surgery market?

The following summary statistics have been taken from market research reports and reliable resources that the Information Service uses to compile industry information. They should give you an indication of how your industry is faring at present and whether there is demand for your type of business:

- ◆ The diversification of markets in line with consumer trends supports growth for manufacturers catering to niche segments. Farmers and Foresters are increasingly adopting precision agriculture technologies, including GPS, automation and drones to optimise field-level crop management and forestry resources. This has a significant impact on the demand in the industry. Over the five years through 2030-31, the agricultural and forestry machinery manufacturing industry is forecast to expand at a compound annual rate of 2.5% to £3.8 billion. (IBISWorld, Agricultural and Forestry Machinery Manufacturing in the UK, October 2025).
- ◆ Limited access to raw materials constrains performance in the UK's Sawmilling and Wood Planing industry. The Provisional Woodlands Statistics 2024, (produced by Forest Research) reveal that woodland makes up 13% of the total land area in the UK. Conifers account for 48% of the UK woodland area, although this is much higher in Scotland at 71% of woodland areas. (IBISWorld, Sawmilling and Wood Planing in the UK, June 2025)
- ◆ IBISWorld Business Environment Profile – UK Timber Price Index (October 2025). An anecdotal report published by Tilhill Forestry hypothesised a scenario whereby prices rise too high, driven by unprecedented demand from construction markets and supply shortages, consequently forcing downstream clients to find alternative material input solutions - this could siphon demand for timber products and induce volatility in the index. As suggested by the FIM, however, long-term timber supply could be constrained by increased competition for land with agriculture to provide food for growing populations, and pressure from environmentalists to preserve forests, potentially keeping prices exceptionally high as a result. Overall, albeit proving volatile year-on-year, the timber price index is forecast to rise at a compound annual rate of 2.8% over the five-year period though 2030-31..
- ◆ Forestry Statistics 2025 Annual report from Forest Research, includes data for Woodland Area and Planting, UK Grown Timber and other titles.
- ◆ The national organisation for this industry is Forestry and Land Scotland. Other industry bodies include Royal Scottish Forestry Society, Scottish Forestry, Scottish Forest and Wood Based Industries, Arboricultural Association, Horticultural Trades Association and the Institute of Chartered Foresters

Where can I find more information on my market?

How can I find out about my competitors?

Business Gateway's online guide to Competitor Analysis explains how to find your competitors, how to research what they're doing and how to act on what you learn about them.

Immediate competition will be from other businesses in your local area. There are several online directories which can be used to find company information and generate lists easily and at no expense. Many Local Authorities also publish local business directories on the web. Below are some key web resources:

- ◆ General business directories such as Yell, Thomson Local or Google Maps
- ◆ Trade specialists like EuroPages (European directory), The Wholesaler or Free Index
- ◆ Business to business (B2B) specialists such as Kompass

Likewise, your local Chamber of Commerce may publish a members' directory; find your local Chamber on the Scottish Chambers website.

Once you've identified who your competitors are, the next step is to gather information on the way they do business. Which services do they provide? How do they market themselves? How much do they charge?

To learn about your competitors:

- ◆ Look for articles or adverts in local newspapers, trade press and directories.
- ◆ Try to read their marketing material; if the company has an online presence, visit the company's website as a first port of call. Not only does it give you a better understanding of the company's activities, it can also offer a wealth of information such as a company history or staff biographies, as well as the company's partners or suppliers
- ◆ Search for information on limited UK companies via the Companies House website
- ◆ Gain an insight into your competitor's performance using credit checks and the accounts that limited companies are required to submit to Companies House each year.

We can provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using this resource, or looking for us to help you find relevant publications, please contact us by emailing info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753

What about suppliers?

Choosing and Managing Suppliers can help you decide what you need from a supplier, how to identify one and how to choose one to deal with.

Trade associations or industry specific organisations may also be able to recommend suppliers or contacts. You can also use the aforementioned resources for finding competitors to find suppliers.

Once you have decided on a supplier, we can run a credit check on the company to help assess their financial stability. We provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using the resource please info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753.

Who are my customers?

Your business plan should include information about the customers you would expect. Business Gateway's guides on Market and customer research will help you to identify new trends, opportunities, customers and competitors.

It can be useful to group your customers by geographical location, age or lifestyle. The websites listed below are freely available and can provide most of this information. If you can't find what you're looking for from these websites, please contact us and one of the team will be happy to help:

- ◆ Access the latest population estimates from the National Records of Scotland \(NRS\). NRS also offers demographic factsheets for each council area in Scotland, which can provide summary statistics for the area you will be based in.
- ◆ Information from the most recent census in 2011 is released via the official website. See in particular the Census Area Profiles. Clicking on your area of interest will give the latest population figures, including estimates by age.
- ◆ Understanding Scottish Places has interactive profiles of towns and cities across Scotland. It can be useful for understanding the interrelationships and flows between towns, and also gives comparisons between two or more places.
- ◆ Scottish Government Statistics provide accurate and up-to-date statistics on Scotland, covering population, health, education and housing.
- ◆ The Scottish Household Survey provides information on the structure, characteristics, attitudes and behaviour of Scottish households, both at a national and local level.
- ◆ Office for National Statistics \(ONS\) is the recognised national statistical body for the UK. ONS covers a wide range of demographic, economic and social issues at a UK level.
