What do I need to know about the Clothing Retail market?

The following summary statistics have been taken from market research reports and reliable resources that the Information Service uses to compile industry information. They should give you an indication of how your industry is faring at present and whether there is demand for your type of business:

- ◆ According to Statista's Consumer Market Insights, in 2025 the total revenue of the apparel market in the UK stood at £66.64bn, forecast to rise to £76.13 by 2029. Women's apparel dominated with £36.55bn of revenue, followed by menswear at £19.91bn and children's at £10.19bn (Statista, Statista Consumer Market Insights, September 2025) **these figures were converted from USD using exchange rates as of December 2025**.
- ◆ Global Data's Industry Profile for Clothing Apparel in the UK (2025) highlights how the rise of online shopping has significantly impacted the apparel retail landscape. Many traditional retailers are enhancing their online platforms to compete with pure-play online retailers like ASOS and Boohoo, which have seen substantial growth due to their ability to offer trendy items at competitive prices. Additionally, technological advancements such as virtual fitting rooms and smart dressing rooms are being adopted to improve the shopping experience and attract tech-savvy consumers. (This content is reproduced under license from GlobalData PLC, Copyright 2026.)
- ◆ Global Data's report on Apparel Trading suggests that the majority of consumers have maintained consistency in their apparel purchasing, with close to six in ten sticking to the same brands and retailers. However, downtrading remains slightly more prevalent than uptrading, with just under one in five shifting to less expensive brands, reflecting ongoing value sensitivity in the category. Younger consumers are notably more fluid in their behaviour whereas, older age groups demonstrate stronger brand loyalty, with over two thirds of those older than 54 staying with the same retailers. (This content is reproduced under license from GlobalData PLC, Copyright 2026.)
- ◆ In 2026, retail sales rose in the three months to March 2026, according to the first ONS estimate, with increases in department stores and textile, clothing and footwear stores*. Retail sales, Great Britain - Office for National Statistics **these figures were accurate at 27.04.26*
- ◆ The UK trade associations for these industries are the British Fashion Council and the UK Fashion and Textile Association. You may also be interested in the British Retail Consortium, Association of Suppliers to the British Clothing Industry and the British Independent Retailers Association.

How can I find out about my competitors?

Business Gateway's online guide to Competitor Analysis explains how to find your competitors, how to research what they're doing and how to act on what you learn about them.

Immediate competition will be from other businesses in your local area. There are several online directories which can be used to find company information and generate lists easily and at no expense. Many Local Authorities also publish local business directories on the web. Below are some key web resources:

- ◆ General business directories such as Yell, Thomson Local or Google Maps
- ◆ Trade specialists like EuroPages (European directory), The Wholesaler or Free Index
- ◆ Business to business (B2B) specialists such as Kompass

Likewise, your local Chamber of Commerce may publish a members' directory; find your local Chamber on the Scottish Chambers website.

Once you've identified who your competitors are, the next step is to gather information on the way they do business. Which services do they provide? How do they market themselves? How much do they charge?

To learn about your competitors:

- ◆ Look for articles or adverts in local newspapers, trade press and directories.
- ◆ Try to read their marketing material; if the company has an online presence, visit the company's website as a first port of call. Not only does it give you a better understanding of the company's activities, it can also offer a wealth of information such as a company history or staff biographies, as well as the company's partners or suppliers
- ◆ Search for information on limited UK companies via the Companies House website
- ◆ Gain an insight into your competitor's performance using credit checks and the accounts that limited companies are required to submit to Companies House each year.

We can provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using this resource, or looking for us to help you find relevant publications, please contact us by emailing info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753

What about suppliers?

Choosing and Managing Suppliers can help you decide what you need from a supplier, how to identify one and how to choose one to deal with.

Trade associations or industry specific organisations may also be able to recommend suppliers or contacts. You can also use the aforementioned resources for finding competitors to find suppliers.

Once you have decided on a supplier, we can run a credit check on the company to help assess their financial stability. We provide credit checks free of charge; if you are interested in using the resource please info@bgateway.com or by calling 0300 013 4753.

Who are my customers?

Your business plan should include information about the customers you would expect. Business Gateway's guides on Market and customer research will help you to identify new trends, opportunities, customers and competitors.

It can be useful to group your customers by geographical location, age or lifestyle. The websites listed below are freely available and can provide most of this information. If you can't find what you're looking for from these websites, please contact us and one of the team will be happy to help:

- ◆ Access the latest population estimates from the National Records of Scotland \(NRS\). NRS also offers demographic factsheets for each council area in Scotland, which can provide summary statistics for the area you will be based in.
- ◆ Information from the most recent census in 2011 is released via the official website. See in particular the Census Area Profiles. Clicking on your area of interest will give the latest population figures, including estimates by age.
- ◆ Understanding Scottish Places has interactive profiles of towns and cities across Scotland. It can be useful for understanding the interrelationships and flows between towns, and also gives comparisons between two or more places.
- ◆ Scottish Government Statistics provide accurate and up-to-date statistics on Scotland, covering population, health, education and housing.
- ◆ The Scottish Household Survey provides information on the structure, characteristics, attitudes and behaviour of Scottish households, both at a national and local level.
- ◆ Office for National Statistics \(ONS\) is the recognised national statistical body for the UK. ONS covers a wide range of demographic, economic and social issues at a UK level.
